First Night Handicaps

First night handicaps procedure will also be used when sub plays for the first time.

You will not know A and B players at start of the night.

What ever you shoot will be your average, and your handicap will be calculated from that.

Your new handicap will then be applied to the round you just played.

First Night Handicaps Example

I'll used Delivery Divots vs Alex and Carl match as example

(please note I have no idea what people will shoot, and number are just for simple examples)

Say the golfers shoot the following scores...

Alex 40

Robert 45

Carl 50

Mike 55

Their handicaps would be...

Alex 4

Robert 8

Carl 12

Mike 16

Alex and Robert would be the A players.

Their scores would be used to calculate the results of one match.

Carl and Mike would be the B players

Their scores would be used to calculate the results of the other match
